Career Outcomes

Students who complete the Provide Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation HLTAID001 unit are regarded as an asset to an array of organisations looking to hire staff. This provides students various opportunities as CPR accreditation is a mandatory requirement to enter a range of industries in Australia.

Having a CPR ready employee creates a safe environment for the organisation and staff under which they are employed. If an injury were to arise, a CPR trained employee would be ready to act promptly to potentially save a co-worker or customer's life.

Course Structure

This short course requires the completion of one elective unit (Provide Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation contains both theoretical and practical elements within its course guide. Students are required to demonstrate a satisfactory level for each given unit to obtain a Certificate of Attainment.
